

Highlights

- Machine learning discovers physical laws for double perovskite materials.
- The framework links structural geometry with three dimensional quantum features.
- Symbolic regression extracts readable equations for thermodynamics and magnetism.
- Ground state descriptors fail to predict excited state electronic band gaps.